SECTION B (50 MARKS)

51. Read the passage below and answer in full sentences the questions that follow.

The saying 'Discipline is the key to success' is indeed well thought out. I used to take it for granted but now I have seen it work for my Primary Seven class at Apedor P/S – Seete .

When we had just joined the class, we were undisciplined. The boys were rowdy. The girls were unsettled. The prefects tried their best to put our class to order but all in vain. The prefects gave up on us and the worse became the worst. The teachers too feared to be blamed by our parents for punishing their children! So, they concentrated on teaching us for excellence, and forgot all about our morals. The headboy and the headgirl sat down to find a solution to the discipline. They came up with a brilliant idea. The idea was to invite a counsellor to talk to us .

They wrote a letter through the Deputy head teacher to invite Ms. Ntulume, a reknown counsellor in the district. On Monday the following week, pupils of my class converged in the school quadrangle to welcome her. At ten-twenty in the morning, she had started her one-hour talk. First, she read and explained the school rules, one at a time. She added that abiding by the school rules means that one will be able to follow the national laws. Secondly, she stressed the need to respect the school leadership like the class monitors, prefects and teachers. She added that leadership comes from God.

Finally, she advised us to be disciplined if we are to succeed in our forthcoming national exams. "Discipline is the key to success. Without it we labour in vain," said Ms. Ntulume.

We all clapped hands in appreciation of her words of counsel. Baddy Zizo, the naughtiest boy in our class confessed that he had changed for the better. In fact he vowed to show desirable behaviour from that day onwards. This made the counsellor very happy.

In the end, the headboy thanked the counsellor for coming. We all promised to turn on a new leaf. We have kept our promise up to date. Our teachers too are now very proud of us. They are busy preparing us for our final examination in which we hope to all excel.
