51. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

Last Friday, a thirteen year old Jonathan Okidi of Boro Boro Priamry School in Kwanja district was thrown off his bicycle and sustained serious injuries when he crashed into a car at the corner of Karundu – Kwanja road. It was 8:00 a.m. and Jonathan was riding downhill towards his school. He was hurrying to get to his school for the first lesson which usually starts at 7:45 am.

A car in front of him slowed down and Jonathan thought that it was going to stop. He wanted to ride past the car, so he rode faster. Unfortunately the car turned left in front of him and it was too late for him to stop. He hit the back of the car. Mr. Sengo, the driver of the car spoke to a reporter from the Kwanja Community Radio after the accident. He said he slowed down and clearly indicated that he was going to turn. "Even a blind man would have seen the indicator." said Mr. Sengo.

"As I turned left, I heard a loud bang and a yell as something hit my car. When I came out, I saw a boy lying on the ground with injuries on his legs, face and shoulders," he continued.

A middle aged pedestrian who was walking at the sides of the road at the time of the accident also reported what he had seen. He said that the school boy was pedaling very fast down the hill. It looked as if he was having a race with the car. "He hit the car with a strong bang that bounced and threw him right in the middle of the road," the pedestrian continued.

The boy was visibly frightened and injured though not critically. Mr. Dombo a motorist who shortly arrived at the scene blamed both the driver and the cyclist. "They both need to attend classes to study the traffic code," he concluded.

52. Read the story below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

I am one of those people owning a vehicle in Kampala. I have been driving since 1990. I have enjoyed driving very much though enjoyment does not end.

Though I have enjoyed it very much, I have had numerous challenges. The first one is the competitive drivers on the road. The way they drive on the road scares everybody. They have caused several accidents in and around Kampala. Some people have lost their lives while others have sustained injuries. I have been very observant and following the events as they unfold. According to the traffic police report I obtained from the Central Police Station, two hundred people have died since 1990. Of these, fifty are women. On the side of children, the traffic police report does not indicate the actual figure but it says about three hundred children have died. Those who have sustained injuries, I can't mention but just get a day and go to Mulago hospital to see with your naked eyes.

The second one challenge is the lack of respect for other road users. Motorists do not respect cyclists and cyclists do not respect pedestrians. The third challenge is the corruption by traffic police officers who get bribes from reckless drivers and they are set free.

As I conclude, I request the government of Uganda to be hard on traffic police officers who ask for bribes from reckless drivers. I also suggest that reckless drivers be imprisoned for ten years whenever they cause accidents. This will help us reduce accidents on roads in our mother country Uganda.

Questions.

1. From which country is the writer?

2. When did the writer start driving?

3. How many challenges has the writer mentioned in the story?

4. Where did the writer obtain the traffic police report from?

5. How many men have died in accidents since 1990?

6. Who ask for brides from people?

7. Which traffic danger is mentioned in the story?

8. Mention one request the writer made to the government.

9. How should the reckless drivers be punished?

- Manta was in Primary six when he started running away from school. At the beginning of term two, he began dodging classes. He could not do the teacher's work. Sometimes, he could not reach school.

One day, he lied to his father that he has been sent away for fess. The old man sold his only goat and gave all the money to Manta to go and pay the fees. When Manta received the fees, he went to the nearby trading centre and spent all the fifty thousand shillings. He bought sodas, cakes and even played pool. Feeling ashamed, he did not return home.

During those days, the people of the village has trouble with night robbers. They lost money, food and animals. In order to end the robbery, they formed a security committee to guard the village at night. For two weeks, Manta went missing. His parents announced on radio Ddoboozi. They went to all their relatives but Manta was nowhere. One night, a gang of thieves broke into a widow's house. She was deep asleep when they broke a window glass. They had a small boy who they pushed through the broken window. He entered and opened the door for them. By the time the widow woke up, they had reached her bedroom,

They threatened to shoot at her if she made any noise. They asked for money, which she did not have. Luckily, one of her sons escaped. When he got outside, he blew the whistle. The security committee members heard. They came running and caught the thieves. As they were taking them outside someone coughed from under the widow's bed. When they flashed the torch there they saw a small boy. He was ordered to come out. It was Manta. Everybody got shocked. He was one of the thieves. He had a piece of wood which they had

MBARARA
20TH JULY, 2016

MR. JONAH NSUBUGA
RUTOOMA MIXED FARM,
P.O. BOX 103,
MBARARA

Dear Sir,

RE: APPRECIATION

We are writing to thank you for your warm welcome and for giving us a very interesting tour farm on Tuesday 15th July, 2016. We enjoyed it a lot and the pupils are still excited up to now.

We know that you are very busy and so we are grateful that you took so much time to explain to us what you do. Running such a farm is a difficult and a very important job we have learnt.

You have helped us so much to understand how to grow crops and take care of animals like cows, goats, sheep and rabbits. When we reached here at our school, we made posters about growing crops and trees to help us carry out what we learnt from you and also to remember our lessons at your farm.

Once again we thank you so much

Yours Faithfully,

Garry Mwebesa

51. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Mukasa is a respected man in Buwaate village. Whenever there is a telephone promotion in Kiira town council, he is always the first person to arrive. His slogan in the village is "Get connected". Many people have nick named him "Get connected" while at home he uses a landline which his son helped him to install in the house. Whenever he goes to Kiira town council, he carries a mobile telephone.

One day as Mr. Mukasa was washing, his mobile telephone dropped into a basin of hot water. He screamed loudly thinking his telephone had got spoilt but only his sim card got spoilt. He decided to wait for the usual promotion because that is when he would buy the new sim card at a cheaper price. Fortunately, the promotion was there just after two days when his sim card got spoilt.

He bought the new sim card at one thousand shillings only. He was very happy because he was going to get connected again. Five metres away from where the promotion was, he bought an airtel airtime card worthy two thousand shillings. He loaded it and called his family members to inform them that he had got a new sim card. The only challenge he had was that he had lost most of his friends' contacts, so he had to call only those ones he had written on a piece of paper which was in his pocket.

Todate, Mr. Mukasa will never say anything bad about the airtel network because it is in many parts of the country and very clear.

The Road,
The collecting place for all vehicles
Where motorists display their means of transport
Cruising in posh land-cruisers and Hummers
While pedestrians suffer the dust showered on them

The Road,
Decorated with zebra crossings,
To allow pedestrians cross busy roads,
Decorated with traffic lights,
To control traffic at junctions

The Road,
Where traffic police officers show their authority,
Arresting reckless drivers and other bad road users,
Who fail to follow the Highway code,
As a measure to reduce road accidents

The Road,
The number one killer of innocent people,
Perishing in fatal accidents here and there,
Others trapped at black spots and junctions
What a tragedy!

Naome Naddunga

Choosing good prefects is very important to every school. They help teachers to organize fellow pupils and supervise school activities on their behalf. This makes the school to run smoothly.

Nowadays, prefects are chosen through elections. This wasn't the case in the past. During those days, prefects were selected by teachers. Teachers would appoint them after careful study of their character. Such prefects were often hard working and disciplined because they feared to annoy the teachers who had appointed them.

However, that system of choosing prefects had some disadvantages as well. First of all, such prefects only served the interests of the teachers. They were therefore harsh and proud and never listened to their fellow pupils. Worse still, that system was undemocratic. The children were not allowed to participate in any electoral process and therefore, they didn't enjoy the fun involved in elections.

It is very good that all that has changed. Currently, prefects are elected. During elections, the school becomes a bee hive of activities. Candidates are busy convincing voters to vote for them. This is called campaigning. The voters on the other hand are busy running to and from different rallies and listening to promises made by the candidates. The electoral process is very good because it enables pupils to learn different skills such as writing applications, reading information on posters and convincing others to vote for them. Even losing an election is good because it trains a candidate how to manage their defeat.

Teachers on their part ensure that the campaign process is violent free. This is done by the electoral committee, supported by the teachers on duty. The electoral committee members also ensure that the necessary materials such as ballot papers and ballot boxes are printed and prepared in time.

What annoys me however, is when candidates start making empty promises. In addition, some candidates also go ahead to bribe the voters by buying for them edibles and drinks from the school canteen. Although such acts are illegal, they are becoming more and more popular in all schools.

SECTION B

51. Read the passage below and answer the questions about it in full sentences.

Mr. Kentucky is the patron, Debator's club in Main street Primary school. Yesterday he entered the classroom and looked steadily at the pupils for some time before speaking. All pupils looked excited.

"We shall have a debate this afternoon, please, suggest a motion for the debate" he said. All the pupils clapped and shouted.

"Primary school education should be free," Diana suggested."

One of the most interesting points raised by the proposers was that children have a right to play. The opposers were quick to oppose this saying that playing cannot be a child's right since most children would rather play than go to school. A hot argument followed. It was not until the chairperson called the house to order, that there was silence in the room.

Towards the end of the debate, the secretary had written down all the points each of speakers had presented in the room.

Santa announced the winners. The proposers had won. Some pupils jumped to their feet in excitement but the teacher cooled them down saying, "The opposers and the proposers had very good points to the motion."

The teacher also emphasized that all pupils needed to research for information from different sources "knowledge is power," without it, you won't know your rights.

The market place,
Centre for shopping,
Cornerstone for business transactions,
Where whole selling and retailing,
Buying and selling in stalls,
Is the order of the day.

Women flock to the market,
With basket balancing on their firm heads,
Full of edibles for sale,
Men carry plastic bags,
As they hurry to bargain for mivumba.

At the market,
Men, women and children,
Sell while others buy,
The sellers advertise their goods,
As they call for his one and that one,
Making uncompromising shouts,
That no one can interpret.
In the market ,
Hawkers hawk their goods,
Vendors peddle their wares,
Retailers retail their commodities,
Wholesalers too sell their merchandise
The market place real business.

SECTION B

51. Read the story below carefully and in full sentences answer the questions that follow.

GIVING A LIFT

Having a vehicle and driving it may be something so amusing especially if you are alone in it. However, when it comes to giving someone a lift, it is very disgusting. There are different types of people and each has a different character and I have been able to meet the following.

The first type of person is that one who makes a lot of noise in someone's car. He forgets that a car is a very small area that needs less noise. This noise is so bad that it interrupts the driver who is driving at that time. Noise is one thing that has made drivers cause accidents. That is why loud music is not good in a vehicle. Music should be there just to help you avoid the boredom. Therefore noise is a traffic danger.

The second type of person is that one who touches everything inside the car. We call this one Kamagu. He ends up destroying some of the items inside the car especially those which are very delicate. These include air conditioner switches, radio buttons and the small cabins.

The third type of person is that one who begins tuning the radio as if it is his and yet he does not have enough knowledge about it. This person is called Kipaku. He tells the vehicle owner even his favourite radio channel.

Another type of person is that one who asks the vehicle owner how much and how he raised the money to buy it. This person is called a dreamer.

Then another person is that one who thinks she has reached the salon. This one begins twisting the driving mirror to see oneself. This person is uncivilized because of violating the rights of a driving mirror. This one is called Katala.

Last but not least, the person who orders the vehicle owner to stop on the way so that he/she buys something. This person is called Kyalo. This habit is very dangerous and it has caused many accidents. Ladies and gentlemen, all the above are considered bad habits, so resist from doing funny and uncivilized things.

Questions.

1. How many types of people has the writer met?

2. What traffic danger has been mentioned in the story?

3. What name is given to someone who touches everything inside a car?

4. Name one very delicate item in the car according to the story.

51. Read the passage below and answer the questions in full sentences.

It was all joy at Mr. Okumu's home that Friday. His daughter Adong was getting married to Kibirige the following day. Relatives and friends gathered to prepare for the big event. They sang and danced two traditional wedding songs and hymns.

At exactly mid-night, Okello, the brother to Adong was asked to call her to their midst. It was time for elders to talk to her. Elder after elder, advised Adong to be a good wife to her husband. Adong's uncle emphasised the need for true love and faithfulness in marriage. Adong's aunt advised her to be obedient to her husband. Adong's grandmother had this to say, "You need to open your doors to all visitors and relatives from your husband's side. Never discriminate them. In that way, you will manage your marriage."

Lastly Adong's parents talked to her. They advised her to be God fearing and hardworking. Then they wished her all the blessings in her new marriage.

Early Saturday morning, Adong and the bridesmaids left her home to Happy Hours Bridal Salon to have a hair do.

At midday, the church service began. The bride and groom took their vows amidst jubilations from relatives and friends. The function ended with a reception at Kwera Community Hall.

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer the questions that follow in full sentences.

One Saturday Bbala boarded a taxi from Kampala to Taxi Park. He was going to visit his grandparents in Fort Portal. It was a quarter past one O'clock when the taxi started on its journey.

At first the taxi moved very slowly towards the Clock Tower. As usual there was a traffic jam around the place. It took about an hour for the traffic jam to clear. Bbala wondered if he could reach Fort Portal before dark.

Once the taxi was out of Kampala the driver increases the speed. He was, however very careful not to endanger the lives of other road users. The road had a tarmac surface all the way to Mityana. From Mityana to Fort Portal, the road had murram surface. The taxi had not gone far from Mityana when it stopped. There was a bus right across the road. The taxi could move neither around the front of the bus nor around the back. There was a crowd of people around the bus. The taxi driver got out to see what had happened. The bus was empty except the driver, who was trying to start the bus again and again. However hard he tried the bus could not start.

The taxi driver turned to the crowd and asked them why they did not help to push the bus out of the way. They said they could not unless they were given money first. "If we ride in the bus, the conductor asks us to pay the fare, so we don't see why we should push the bus without being paid." One of them said.

Half an hour later, a policeman appeared. After studying the situation, he ordered everybody to push the bus. Since there were plenty of strong young men, the bus was soon moved out of the way. Bbala and other passengers got back into the taxi to continue with their journey. Indeed it was quite dark when Bbala arrived at his grandparent's home.

Land, Land

Land the surface of the earth

That is not on the sea

Land the most important asset

That man can ever have

Land owned by individuals

But the state can acquire it

In order to develop it.

Land, Land
Can be used to fight poverty
Through cultivation, rearing animals and fish
But why are many Ugandans poor?
Many have talked and written article
But never give solutions
To the problem of poverty
It is time to show people
The wealth they are sitting on.

Land, Land
Crops from land yield money
People in urban areas
Practice urban farming
Done in sacks filled with soil
Vegetables like greens
Are products of such farming.

Land, Land
Cattle rearing also yields cash
An acre of pasture land
Can feed dairy cattle
To produce thirty to forty
Litres of milk daily
Therefore let us join hands
To fight poverty so that
We do not regret in future

Most schools in Uganda hold their annual sports day in term one. During this time, there are a number of preparations that take place. Some of these preparations include, recruiting pupils who are good at athletics, identifying sports activities and intensive training. The overall seer of these activities is always the sports master. He makes sure that there is a training programme, the sports equipment, participants for sports activities. The training takes a full month.

When sports day comes, the games teacher makes sure that there are teams to compete against each other and these teams are given specific places where they base. There is always an announcer who informs the participants which race or game is next. There is also a table where participants' points are recorded. Each game has people to start it. These are called starters.

When all these races are over, all the points scored are totalled and then final results are announced to determine the winners. The winning teams jubilate and sing songs of victory and the losers walk away quietly and wait for the coming year.

My father, oh my father

Suffering from hospital

From unknown disease

Fighting for his life

I prayed to God to help him

But he refused

He took my father's life

Away from his family

I asked God in a quiet voice

Why my father?

Surely he has never done anything wrong

Did he?

And then I heard a voice

Telling me to calm

The voice told me

My father is rejoicing in heaven

Watching over his family

It was then, I felt happy.

SECTION B

Questions 51 to 55 carry 10 marks each

51. Read the passage below carefully and answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

It was evening time at around 6:00 p.m. The sun had disappeared beyond a thick forest beside the road that took us to our home. We had walked from school to go back home and were too tired even to carry our own books. We were right because it was a long way from school to our home.

Despite the long distance, Henry and I was determined to read and become a lawyer and a doctor. Henry wanted to become a lawyer while I liked being a medical doctor. Due to these ambitions, we persevered through the sharp stones, heavy rain, scorching sunshine and above all, the long distance!

Half a kilometer away from home, we met a strange person. This man looked strange because I could hardly see his face clearly. He was short, carrying a bald head. I noticed patches of grey hair which was scanty in the sides of his head. He had a few fingers on both hands. The visible parts of his body were full of scars! He suddenly stopped us as we trotted past him. I did not want to stop and talk to him but Henry did.

"Can you show me the way to Mr. Mukasa's home?" he asked. I did not want Henry to direct him to my father's home but he did. I got annoyed because I didn't know what the man wanted from my father.

After Henry had directed the stranger to our home, we ran very fast till we reached.

No sooner had I changed from my dress, than the visitor arrived. It was the stranger being given a warm welcome. Immediately my father called me to come and greet Mr. Kaye - the stranger. After greeting him, my father narrated a short story to me.

He said that when I was a five months old baby girl, the house I was sleeping in caught fire. Mr. Kaye who was passing by saw thick huge smoke and flames of fire piercing through the roof. When he came nearer the house, he heard the cries of a baby inside. He courageously dashed inside the burning house and picked out the suffocating baby. Although Mr. Kaye saved the baby from fire, he sustained serious burns on the head back and hands. He lost his hair on the head and some fingers were cut off due to the burns. My father said, "The baby who Mr. Kaye saved is you!!!"

After that story, I went and hugged Mr. Kaye and thanked him for saving my life and for sacrificing his life to save mine. I swore to respect all kinds of people I find. Finally, I repented to God of my misbehaviour.

54. Read the poem below and answer, in full sentences, the questions that follow.

The holiday time has come
To liberate us from school uniforms
A time free from books and chalkboards
A time to relax and enjoy
A time to refresh our minds

Oh! The holiday time
When books become pillows
A time when bells ring no more
A time for parents or guardians to rule
A time for freedom

The time I can never forget
When I make fun with my friends
A time I ride bicycles round my village
A time to go to village markets
A time to help parents or guardians

Nicholas Oboja
