Long time ago, there lived a boy known as Mulindwa with his grandmother in a small hut in Kyonyo village in Mbarara district.

His grandmother used to take good care of him after the death of her parents who died in a car crash at Nyeihanga trading centre.

The grandmother could take care of him in many ways like feeding, clothing and giving him medical care in case of sickness.

She used to give him food before going to the garden. One day, she gave him food to prepare so that he would come back when the food is ready.

When the boy saw cassava, he just ate it uncooked and got satisfied, and then he slept.

When the grandmother came back from the garden, she asked for food because she was very hungry. She looked for the boy but could not see him. When she went to his bedroom, she found the boy asleep and woke him up. She asked the boy some food and the boy told that he ate the cassava uncooked. She warned him not to do it again.
